

Siobhan Mulligan

Siobhan Mulligan grew up near Atlanta, Georgia, before moving to Scotland to pursue a master's degree (and then doctorate) in creative writing. She has researched urban fantasy, the Southern Gothic, and the southern belle, while teaching workshops on subjects such as ecopoetry and writing the fantastic. Her poetry has been published in New Writing Scotland, CALYX, and Phi Kappa Phi Forum, among others. She currently lives in Glasgow, where in her free time she plays video games and practices historical fencing.

Photo credit: Margaret Mulligan

<https://siobhanmulligan.wordpress.com>

OPEN TO: Adult, Young Adult, and Middle Grade fantasy, sci-fi, horror, thriller, non-fiction, and graphic novels

Interests & subject matter expertise

- Gothic literature
- Southern U.S. history
- Nature conservation (especially in southern Africa)
- Musical theatre (both history of & working in)
- Historical swordsmanship
- Badass historical women (especially artists)
- 1920s Berlin
- Irish mythology
- Poetry (both the writing & study of)
- Anything feminist & historical!

Fandoms/Properties

- Doctor Who
- Dragon Age
- Mass Effect
- Dimension 20
- Critical Role
- The Adventure Zone
- Discworld
- any Tamora Pierce universes
- Star Wars
- The Sandman
- Avatar: The Last Airbender
- The Lord of the Rings
- Steven Universe
- The Legend of Zelda
- Dungeons & Dragons